

Course Options Home School & Private School Guidance

HOME SCHOOL STUDENTS

The Course Options statute limits the program to students enrolled in a public Wisconsin school district. However, students who are home schooled can take up to two courses per semester in a Wisconsin public school. For more information about this options, visit the DPI Home-Based Private Education Program (Homeschooling) webpage (<http://dpi.wi.gov/sms/home-based>). Specific information about this option can be found by clicking on the “Wisconsin Statutes relating to Homeschooling” link and the “Frequently Asked Questions Relating to Homeschooling” link (questions 16 and 17 address this situation) on that webpage.

PRIVATE SCHOOL STUDENTS

The Course Options statute limits the program to students enrolled in a public Wisconsin school district. However, students enrolled in a private high school can take up to two courses per semester in their resident public high school. For more information about this options, visit the DPI Private Schools webpage (<http://dpi.wi.gov/sms/private-schools>). Specific information about this option can be found by clicking on the “Part-Time Attendance Option” link on that webpage.
